Mission Statement:

St. Landry Catholic Church is a community of the faithful that serves God and our neighbors by coming to know and love more deeply Our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ. This is accomplished through the study of Sacred Scripture and by practicing the traditions handed down to us, especially the seven sacraments. By the help of Jesus' Grace, we seek to imitate Him in His faith, hope and charity so that we can receive His gift of salvation in eternal life.

From the Desk of Msgr. Harrington...

Unfortunately, it is much too easy for many of us to readily identify some story, incident or event from our past that would be considered traumatic. The power and intensity of this trauma or series of events define our inner selves, which impact our outer selves. The event hits us at such a profound level of our being that many find it difficult to consider the possibility of healing. We react in such visceral, primitive ways which threaten our physical and spiritual well-being. Our emotional and spiritual happiness is held hostage by the terror of the original trauma.

The pain experienced at the time of the traumatic event is so sharp it slashes through our hearts and leaves us shredded and broken. What is perceived as traumatic for some is not always seen as such by others which feeds the energy of the trauma and compounds the isolation and sense of futility. Reality is now seen through the lens of intense hurt and alienation. This is sometimes referred to as the 'traumatization' process; a potentially destructive process engaged to try to deal with the original trauma. This process opens the door for addiction(s), self-blame/self-condemnation, the inability to forgive others or oneself, the re-animation of the traumatic event which can develop into Post Traumatic Stress Disorder. This process can be lethal.

I wish there were easy answers for everyone who gets lost in the darkness. I wish there were a magic wand that could wave away all the hurt, all the sadness, all the shadows. If God could only fix all of us so that we only knew joy and happiness, peace and tranquility. If God would just remove all the evil of this world and stop all this pain from happening in the first place then we wouldn't have to deal with it.

We don't live in Eden or heaven. We live on earth, in the world. We are earthen vessels, vulnerable to being shattered. But we are earthen vessels filled with grace. We are never abandoned to the world, and that's what we often forget. There is not only light at the end of the tunnel, there is light IN the tunnel. The incarnate God, the Word enfleshed in our being holds tight to our hearts. We are in His firm grasp, and there is no letting go. As St. Paul reminds us, there is no separating us from the love of God in Christ Jesus. A separation simply cannot happen, will not happen.

When Jesus came into the world as a human person, He chose to enter our shadows to bring His light. We see ourselves at times lost and aimless, victims of a cruelty that is not of our making. It is in that shadow world where He loves us most. He chooses to enter our 'lostness' to bring us home to Himself, the true center of who we are. He blends our cross into His to draw us ever closer to Himself. His hands are nailed to the cross we carry. His blood stains the burden that is ours.

The journey we make into the traumas of our lives, we do so with the knowledge that He is with us in the journey. We look at our broken self, not with skewed lens of trauma or residual shame, but with His true vision of us. We look at our self with genuine love, not pity. We look at our self as He sees us, beloved and treasured. This love of Jesus redefines us. It sets us on a new path. We are no longer powerless victims to our past, but free to be open and receptive to His re-creation. In the most horrendous part of our experience, He holds us with that firm grip, that fierce love that does not judge, but saves; it does not surrender us to the shadow but lifts us to grace and redemption. He enables us to see that we are truly beautiful, especially when we believed our past to be completely ugly and vile. He whispers over and over again: "I am with you always. Let me grace you into life."

READINGS FOR FAITH SHARING

Thirty-first Sunday in Ordinary Time

Wis 11:22-12:2 The Lord has mercy on all.

Psalms 145 “I will praise your name for ever, my king and my God.”

2 Thes 1:11-2:2 May the name of Christ be glorified in you and you in him.

Luke 19: 1-10 Jesus came to seek and save what was lost.

Today let us put ourselves in the shoes of Zacchaeus, so eager to see Jesus that he climbed a tree to see over the crowd. Jesus is with us today, in our neighbor, In our midst as we gather together In his name, and in the bread and wine we offer as it is blessed and broken. We don't need to climb a tree, yet we may find him difficult to see. Let us pray today for the eyes of Zacchaeus, eager to see Jesus wherever he can be found.

PRAYER FOR HURRICANE SEASON

O God, Master of this passing world, hear the humble voices of your children. The Sea of Galilee obeyed your order and returned to its former quietude; you are still the Master of land and sea. We live in the shadow of a danger over which we have no control. The Gulf, like a provoked and angry giant, can awake from its seeming lethargy, overstep its conventional boundaries, invade our land and spread chaos and disaster. During this hurricane season, we turn to You, O loving Father. Spare us from past tragedies whose memories are still so vivid and whose wounds seem to refuse to heal with the passing of time. O Virgin, Star of the Sea, Our Beloved Mother, we ask you to plead with your Son in our behalf, so that spared from the calamities common to this area and animated with a true spirit of gratitude, we will walk in the footsteps of your Divine Son to reach the heavenly Jerusalem where a storm-less eternity awaits us.

OCS CORNER

School mass for grades 6-12 will be held on Tuesday at 9:10 am. On Friday night, the Vikings will host Westminster at 7 pm, and it will be “Senior Night” for the football players and spirit group members.

OC is proud of the academic growth witnessed in the recent ACT report by the class of 2019 where the composite scores went up and are now well ABOVE the state and national averages. We are above the state in every category and above the national except for one area; and our leading progression has been in English!

Family and friends of Catholic education are reminded about the ongoing 2019-2020 Angel Appeal Drive. Gifts will allow the purchase of a new sound system in the gymnasium for school events. Please also mark your calendars for December 3 which is “iGiveCatholic” day, an online giving opportunity created to celebrate our Catholic faith.
